Content Description

This growing collection focuses on nonbinary gender identities, which are genders outside the strict binary of “male” or “female.” Nonbinary people can be a mix of genders, move fluidly between genders, be somewhere on the spectrum of male/female or apart from it, or have no gender. This collection includes materials from the research, writing, publishing, and promotion of the Nonbinary Gender Identities book written by Charlie McNabb as well as an in-process journal article; other scholarship on nonbinary and culturally-specific genders; and material and digital culture artifacts relating to nonbinary gender.

Use of the Collection
